IMPORTANT SAFETY INFORMATION - READ THE FOLLOWING WARNINGS BEFORE YOU OR YOUR CHILD PLAY VIDEO GAMES

⚠ WARNING - Seizures

Some people (about 1 in 4000) may have seizures or black outs triggered by light flashes, such as while watching TV or playing video games, even if they have never had a seizure before.

Anyone who has had a seizure, loss of awareness, or other symptom linked to an epileptic condition should consult a doctor before playing a video game.

Parents should watch when their children play video games. Stop playing and consult a doctor if you or your child have any of the following symptoms:

Convulsions	Eye or muscle twitching	Loss of awareness
Altered vision	Involuntary movements	Disorientation

To reduce the likelihood of a seizure when playing video games:
1. Sit or stand as far from the screen as possible.
2. Play video games on the smallest available television screen.
3. Do not play if you are tired or need sleep.
4. Play in a well-lit room.
5. Take a 10 to 15 minute break every hour.

⚠️WARNING - Repetitive Motion Injuries

Playing video games can make your muscles, joints or skin hurt after a few hours. Follow these instructions to avoid problems such as Tendonitis, Carpal Tunnel Syndrome or skin irritation:

- Take a 10 to 15 minute break every hour, even if you don't think you need it.
- If your hands, wrists or arms become tired or sore while playing, stop and rest them for several hours before playing again.
- If you continue to have sore hands, wrists or arms during or after play, stop playing and see a doctor.

⚠️WARNING - Battery Leakage

Leakage of battery acid can cause personal injury as well as damage to your Game Boy. If battery leakage occurs, thoroughly wash the affected skin and clothes. Keep battery acid away from your eyes and mouth. Leaking batteries may make popping sounds.

To avoid battery leakage:

- Do not mix used and new batteries (replace all batteries at the same time).
- Do not mix alkaline and carbon zinc batteries.
- Do not mix different brands of batteries.
- Do not use nickel cadmium batteries.
- Do not leave used batteries in the Game Boy. When the batteries are losing their charge, the power light may become dim, the game sounds may become weak, or the display screen may be blank. When this happens, promptly replace all used batteries with new batteries.
- Do not leave batteries in the Game Boy or accessory for long periods of non-use.
- Do not leave the power switch on after the batteries have lost their charge. When you finish using the Game Boy, always slide the power switch OFF.
- Do not recharge the batteries.
- Do not put the batteries in backwards. Make sure that the positive (+) and negative (-) ends are facing in the correct directions. Insert the negative end first. When removing batteries, remove the positive end first.
- Do not dispose of batteries in a fire.

Smuggler's Run™

Radar coverage is just too good these days, so many smugglers like you have climbed back into off-road vehicles and found success by out-driving law enforcement across some of the most inhospitable terrain in the world.

In the early days, you were a freelance smuggler who was fearless enough (or stupid enough) to join this off-road game of life, death and serious cash. Somehow you survived long enough on your own to get pretty good at it.

But now, as a hardened smuggler, it's all about heaps of dollar bills. You've done so much "transporting" that it doesn't matter what you deliver, just as long as there are thrills along the way and a good paycheck at the end of the day. With your "don't ask, don't tell" policy, you are totally neutral against any moral ramification of any packages or even what your clients do; you just want to deliver the goods and get far away.

Sure, you still make some runs by yourself, but rival bands of smugglers and swarms of cops have made the loner's life challenging. That, and the attraction of bigger and bigger jobs, entices you to partner up with a band that made you a good offer. Hey, you gotta respect supply and demand, and you're in demand for contributing to the supply.

Even as part of a Rag-Tag (but feared) band, you always face competition on every run. Either rival bands or a bunch of thugs with badges work hard to take what you've got. But for every run you pull off, you get more green, which you can use to add to your collection of "company cars" (anything but street legal). Do you do it for the thrill of off-road racing, the glory of winning, the money, or the travel opportunities? Maybe it's a little of each.
